The European Environmental Bureau (EEB)

The European Environmental Bureau (EEB) is a federation of over 140 environmental citizens' organisations based in all EU Member States and most Accession Countries, as well as in a few neighbouring countries. These organisations range from local and national, to European and international. The aim of the EEB is to protect and improve the environment of Europe and to enable the citizens of Europe to play their part in achieving that goal.

The EEB office in Brussels was established in 1974 to provide a focal point for its Members to monitor and respond to the emerging EU environmental policy. It has an information service, runs working groups of EEB Members, produces position papers on topics that are, or should be, on the EU agenda, and it represents the Membership in discussions with the Commission, the European Parliament and the Council. It closely co-ordinates EU-oriented activities with its Members at the national levels, and also closely follows the EU enlargement process and some pan-European issues.

The EEB gratefully acknowledges the financial assistance of the Commission of the European Communities, the Ministry of the Environment of Finland, the Ministry of the Environment of Greece, the Ministry of the Environment of Luxembourg, the Ministry of the Environment of Slovakia, the Ministry of the Environment of Sweden and the British Department of the Environment, Food and Rural Affairs.
